“Yondor Diamonds is one of the strongest large diamond suppliers. Based in Israel, we serve the industry worldwide,” the company said. “We have the resources, stock volume and amazing team of professionals to support customers’ diamond requests, from 3 carats up.”

JGTD provides the diamond manufacturer an opportunity to meet clients, get to know new buyers and suppliers, and see friends, colleagues and partners from the global industry – all in one place.

Recognised as one of the industry’s biggest names in diamond manufacturing, Shree Ramkrishna Exports Pvt Ltd (SRK) of India is raring to showcase its exceptional products and capabilities through its dazzling diamond display and virtual reality presentation at JGTD. The company specialises in the production of 0.30-carat to 30-carat natural diamonds in almost all clarities and shapes.

“We will be exhibiting our vivid range of natural diamonds, sustainably crafted at our green buildings. Along with loose stones, our stand will showcase our exclusively designed layouts in the form of necklaces and tennis bracelets, Twin Diamonds, and many more. The audience will get an opportunity to take a tour around our diamond crafting facility and view how the diamonds are crafted through our virtual reality presentation,” SRK said.

“At JGTD, we are looking forward to meeting buyers from high-end jewellery brands and retailers. Our trained team will explain everything about the industry and diamond craftsmanship, and how we craft natural diamonds sustainably. We are promoting the industry as well.”

Ready to impress buyers with its extensive emerald collection is Emerald 18 Ltd. A joint cooperative platform of Israel-based coloured gemstone manufacturers and traders Hargem Ltd and H. Stark & Co Ltd, the company is renowned for its assortment of Africa-sourced emeralds, including single stones and layouts from 1 carat and higher with accompanying gemstone reports and in various price ranges.

This gemstone specialist also supplies “Quality Cut” rounds and princess-cut stones in sizes ranging from 1.75mm to 4mm, in increments of 0.25mm and in separate categories.

For Emerald 18, JGTD is destined to be a driving force for the jewellery industry.

“We are confident that such an event in Dubai is bound to succeed and will become a valuable tool for the coloured gemstone industry,” the company said. “This show will bring new opportunities to exhibitors and buyers.”

Also ensuring that compelling coloured gemstone collections will be on tap at the show is Hong Kong-based Blue Gems Supplier, which is ready to showcase a rich and diverse selection of fine gems, including Paraiba tourmalines.

“We have an extraordinary collection of tourmalines in all colours, including rubellite, and green and pink tourmalines. More importantly, we have an amazing collection of Paraiba tourmalines, which have become very popular and quite rare,” the company said.

Blue Gems Supplier sources its stones directly from mines, and cuts and polishes rough material in its own facility. This allows the company to supply gemstones in virtually all sizes and shapes. Rare neon greenish-blue Paraibas are also available as layouts and in calibrated and free sizes.

At JGTD, the gemstone specialist hopes to capture the fancy of B2B buyers who want to add a stunning statement to their offerings for 2023. “We will introduce a wider variety of coloured gemstones to the Middle East market,” Blue Gems Supplier said. “This will benefit buyers since they will have more options. At the same time, the show creates opportunities for us to reach out to potential clients.”

‘Eldorado’ Collection by La Prima Gioielli

Another exciting supplier that buyers cannot afford to miss is La Prima Gioielli, a company that has been creating “Jewellery Art” with the “Made in Vicenza” label for more than 50 years. Known as the gold capital of Italy, Vicenza is home to many of the world’s most important jewellers.

“Our jewellery is worn worldwide and influences the Middle Eastern market heavily,” the company said. “This exhibition is important for La Prima Gioielli because it gives us the chance to showcase our passion for our business and strengthen the relationship with customers with whom we have been working with for many years. This is also a great chance to meet new potential customers and push our brand to new horizons.”

One of the outstanding creations within the company’s extensive product portfolio is the “Eldorado” Collection, which will debut in Dubai. Inspired by the mythical golden city of El Dorado, the collection consists of long necklaces, dangle earrings, rings and bracelets featuring irregular-shaped stone-like gold beads in textured finishes, which capture the raw beauty of gold nuggets.

Established in Singapore in 1962, Teng Huat Jewellery Pte Ltd gained fame for its precise craftsmanship and exquisite designs, which come in a wide range of styles and materials. Classic, yet always on trend, its collections span voluminous diamond jewellery resembling shimmering curves and undulating waves, statement rings set with faceted and cabochon coloured gemstones, and contemporary gold creations inspired by traditional Chinese symbols and patterns, to name a few.

Unique to Teng Huat are jewellery lines that strike the perfect harmony between the brilliance and fire of diamonds, the soft lustre and iridescence of custom-cut mother-of-pearl shells, and the opulence of gold.

The jeweller said it will debut its mother-of-pearl and diamond jewellery series for 2023 at the show. “It is important to promote and sell our products to the Middle East market,” Teng Huat shared.

One of the industry's leading manufacturers of children's jewellery, Pie De Rey Designs SL of Spain will shine the spotlight on its new affordable bracelet collection in gold for babies and kids.

“We consider Dubai a hub to channel our connections and exports to all Middle East countries,” the company said.

Powerful networking

Focused on the show theme, “The Centre of Business,” and positioned as “the B2B fair to expand international business into new markets,” JGTD is pacing ahead in terms of exhibitor bookings. The second edition is projected to host about 400 major suppliers from more than 20 countries and regions, representing at least a 30% increase in exhibitor numbers compared with the inaugural show. To meet firm demand for booth locations, a new hall has been added, expanding the show's gross exhibition space by 40% to about 15,000sqm.

The fair is likewise hosting the second annual JWA Dubai Awards Presentation Ceremony and Panel Discussion, which will take place on Day 1 of the fair. The regional edition of Informa Markets Jewellery's Jewellery World Awards \(JWA\), JWA Dubai is one of the industry's most prestigious yearly celebrations of exceptional individuals and businesses within the sector. The fair also precedes the International Colored Gemstone Association (ICA) Congress, which will be powered by DMCC from 15 to 17 February at the Almas Conference Centre. The Congress is one of the world's biggest gatherings of leaders in the coloured gemstone sector.
